

KATHERINE L. B. HEUBERT

Global Trade Counsel

Hewlett Packard Enterprise

heubert@hpe.com

Katherine Heubert focuses her practice on compliance with U.S. export and import laws and regulations. Since 2003, she has guided clients through various matters arising under the International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR), the Export Administration Regulations (EAR), including the antiboycott provisions, and the economic sanctions and embargoes administered by the Treasury Department Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC). Katherine has extensive experience working with clients to navigate complex licensing issues, make jurisdictional and classification determinations, design and implement internal compliance programs, prepare and present training programs, conduct internal audits, investigate and draft voluntary and directed disclosures, and comply with trade sanctions and embargoes.

In addition to her years in private practice, Katherine has worked in both government and industry sectors, spending time as Senior Manager for Global Trade Controls Licensing & Policy at The Boeing Company, and as a Policy Analyst for the U.S. Department of State, Directorate of Defense Trade Controls Office of Defense Trade Controls Policy. She began her career assisting clients in export, import, and domestic transfer issues related to the Gun Control Act and the National Firearms Act. A New Orleans transplant, Katherine currently resides in Alexandria, VA with her family and, in her spare time, she enjoys playing chauffeur to her 10-year-old son for lacrosse games and drum lessons.
